PRESENTING THE

1945 Gem

TAYLOR UNIVERSITY

D E D I C A T I O N

Reverently in honor of those who, in Christ-like manner, have accepted His call to tread the sin-darkened paths of human habitation to take the message of gospel light and radiant hope to perishing souls.

"In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy PATHS."

A theme for life! A pattern for a book
 More than pages filled with things—
 A vital record of life at Taylor
 Portraying days of joy, sparkling, radiant
 But as we cross the threshold of another year,
 Uncertainty overshadows still,
 A world in chaos, turmoil and strife
 None of us know what's ahead in life.
 Yet harbored in the depths of our soul
 Is rekindled a reassuring glow—
 For we can follow in His steps
 And be victorious through His power and might.
 A PATH of victory for a sin-sick world
 Such the theme suggested—if
 We but in all ways acknowledge Him
 A victorious life thru Christ we'll win.

Administration

ROBERT LEE STUART, Ph.B., D.D.

Our President

The President of Taylor University must be a man of great vision and decisive action. These war years have increased the responsibilities that rest upon his shoulders and have made even more difficult the perplexing problems of administration. During this time the President's leadership has given every evidence of sacrificial service and of whole hearted devotion to a trying task. It has been made possible only by the great vision which he has had for the future of our school.

Dr. Stuart has led Taylor University through fourteen of the most crucial years of her history, and has brought her to the threshold of the centennial year with bright prospects for the future. As he retires from an active administrative connection with the institution we gratefully recognize his splendid service and express our appreciation of the contribution he has made to the life of our school.

BURT W. AYRES, A.M., Ph.D., LL.D.

Professor of Philosophy

Taylor University, B.S.; A.M.;
Ph.D.; LL.D.

Our Vice President

They who have been privileged to be taught by Dr. B. W. Ayres, feel that of him God has shaped a beautiful life. His many fruitful years have inspired students to live sturdy Christian lives and to stand against all forms of opposition to Eternal Truth. Dr. Ayres, in spite of his knowledge in almost every field, feels the depths of God's love and inexplicable goodness to man as few do. Perhaps his accomplishments in influencing life have been only dimly visible to him, yet they who have gained his attitudes feel a strong determination to go out and build the Kingdom of God.

Senior! could it at last be true? Was it possible that the coveted academic garb apparelled us? Just yesterday we were "against the wearin' of the green." Now we sit in the northeast quarter section of Shreiner, the dignified plot. Other confirmations of our "dream-come-true" classifications were courses numbering in the four hundreds, Senior Skip Party, following senior tradition in Taylor's traditional Senior Kid's Party and last but maybe least the loving devotion given us from the underclassmen. Comprehensives, coming out day, vacation day, hours of counsel with our sponsor, Dr. Jaarsma and senior privileges painted our final year at T. U. in rich color.

Commencement marks parting to the ends of the earth for Christ, country and humanity with an integrated Christian philosophy of service gleaned from Christian study and Christian friendships. Enriched with many "David and Jonathan" friendships the graduating class of 1945 says, Forward With Faith.

Although our number is small, we have enjoyed a profitable year working together with Professor Crane, our class sponsor.

Remember those "green caps" walking down the roadway, suitcases in hand—just freshmen on their way to classes? Remember the little reminders in the dining hall about our "Taylor Etiquette"? Remember in February that outstanding production, "The Dust of the Earth" directed by Mrs. Reidhead, and in the spring the traditional banquet in honor of the seniors? Yes, you guessed it—the Juniors were responsible for all of these.

Proudly displaying our Keys of Knowledge and wearing our fine maroon and white class sweaters, we Juniors feel well equipped to take our position as seniors in '46.

Navy and white! With their striking sweaters the sophomores were the sensation of Class Day. This but initiated the sparkle and originality which was to follow the class throughout the year.

The freshmen joined the sophomores in celebrating Sadie Hawkins Day when the girls dated their favorite beaus and the fellows proved their popularity. Valentine Party, freshmen-sophomore party were other social highlights.

With the realization of their good fortune to attend college during war time, came a deeper appreciation for Taylor and a greater feeling of responsibility to do their best.

The sophomores have been bound together in a spirit of love and loyalty. As they continue through their college days under the leadership of their able sponsor, Professor Rediger, the Class of '47 marches on to new goals, to a greater and more brilliant future.

Service Men

"God keep our boys wherever they may be,
On land, in air, or on the stormy sea,
May angels guard their life with loving care
Oh, keep and bless our boys, this is our pray'r."

"This is our pray'r" as we think of those classmates of ours who would be juniors and seniors this year, but who are instead soldiers and sailors in Uncle Sam's school of service. In North Africa, Belgium, France, or the Philippines—anywhere that you find fighting American men, you will find Taylor students. We do not forget them nor underestimate the sacrifice they are making now, and along with them we are praying

"Lord, hasten thou that day, that happy day,
When men shall love and live in peace alway;
When war on earth forever more shall cease,
All nations' youth shall serve the Prince of Peace."

And our service men will become once more Taylor students, taking part in campus activities and continuing their preparation for His service.

Freshman Class

1st Row: Schaeffer, President; Roby; Professor Renz, Sponsor.
2nd Row: Holmes, Conger, Van Lieu.

Registration Day found the freshmen eagerly awaiting the events of the coming school year. Homesick? Perhaps a little, but they showed that they possessed good sportsmanship and the desire to succeed.

The determination of the class was first exhibited at the Tug-o-War, which proved to be very exciting although the freshmen came up with the short end of the rope. They displayed good sportsmanship by wearing their little green caps for a week, by walking in the streets and by carrying their books to classes in suitcases.

Rush days brought thrills and a decision to be made. Several weeks later each student was given the opportunity to display his talents in the new Thalo and Philo programs.

Class prayer meetings, parties, and various other activities have made this a well balanced and successful school year for the freshmen.

The Student Government operates throughout the year to stimulate school spirit, to maintain a feeling of good will between the faculty and the students, and to serve as a proper channel to the faculty for the problems and petitions of the student body.

This year has been a banner year for the Council. It has been the happy privilege of this group to put into operation the plans adopted by the faculty-student committee. These plans provide for mutual cooperation of the faculty and students. Some of the improvements are:

Student council of five members, one elected by each class, and a president elected by the student body.

A boys' and girls' counsellor from the student group to act in disciplinary cases.

Some of the faculty committees such as Vesper, Gospel Team, Publications, and Lyceum have been made faculty-student committees.

A House Committee for each dormitory to cooperate with the Dean of Men and Dean of Women in maintaining rules of conduct in the residence halls.

The establishment of the principles of democracy in our faculty-student relations has been a contribution which will make Taylor University more effectively Christian.

Education

1. Student Teachers and Sponsor
3. A fine Christian teacher

2. Practice Teaching
4. Student Librarians

Under the competent supervision of Dr. Jaarsma the student teachers have proved themselves quite capable of teaching pupils in secondary schools. During the first semester four of them taught in various fields in the Upland High School, while in the second semester five of them completed their required number of hours in the Hartford City High School and two of them in the local high school.

The number of hours of practice teaching required by the various states differ. All, however, include several hours of observation as well as actual teaching in one or more major or minor fields.

All of the students seem to have enjoyed their experience in many ways and, as a result of the practice, feel better equipped to undertake a teaching position in the future.

"A little learning is a dangerous thing,
Drink deep or taste not the Pyrean spring."

Fearing too little learning, we of the Language Clubs drank deeply this year of the fountain of literature and languages. One sweet draught was given us when our Hoosier poet, Barton Rees Pogue, presented a program of his own poems. Quotations and grammar quenched our literary thirst while foreign languages were brought vividly to life as thumbnail sketches and reports of foreign lands were made. In this way we have been integrating the various phases of English that we may show to others the richness of this fountain.

The Ministerial Association, founded in 1912, is both the training center for ministerial students and the divisional club for students from the departments of Religious Education, Biblical Literature, and Philosophy, and welcomes all other students training for various branches of Christian service.

The semi-monthly meetings afford a variety of programs by students, visiting speakers, and members of the faculty. Opportunities are particularly given for practice, encouragement, and direction to those looking forward to a life consecrated to the Lord. Homiletic deliveries by students from the pulpit are constructively criticized from the standpoint of personal mannerisms, homiletical construction, and pulpit technique.

In this practical "clinic" ministerial students and Christian workers are helped to see themselves as they are seen by others, and are thus better able to make the corrections and formulate the habits which will be of value to them in their quest for souls in the years to come.

Students at Taylor who are preparing for Christian service find it both inspiring and beneficial to go out in practical service for the Master while they are in training.

To provide such experience a gospel team organization has been formed, consisting of a faculty-student committee which advises and plans the work, several captains who organize and direct the teams and all of the students who care to participate in the program.

The current year's demands for this type of work have far exceeded our ability to meet them. Teams have been in nearby churches of almost every denomination, and many youth groups throughout the state of Indiana have enlisted our services.

The fruits of this work are reaped in the testimonies of pastors and young people who witness to the saving power of Christ and the rich spiritual encouragement which has come through the ministry of gospel team service.

On whom the pale moon gleams;
Yet we are the movers and shakers
Of the World forever, it seems."

—Arthur O'Shaughnessy.

Twice a month we meet to fill our ears and minds with music. Sometimes we sing, sometimes we play, and then again we just listen and relax.

Our purpose is to perform with ease before others and to increase our understanding and appreciation of music. Under the capable direction of Professors Bothwell and Keller we feel we have accomplished this purpose.

This year we have had the privilege of listening to several compositions by members of our club. Our fund of musical knowledge was enlarged by the reports presented to us. Interesting reports on the place of music in the armed forces, the powers of music in industry and medicine, the earliest songs of America, and other topics were presented to us.

"Music hath charms."

Choral Society

Officers: Kaye Hill, Pres.; G. Holcombe, V. Pres.; G. Shuppert, Sec.; J. Bailey, Librarian.
Pianists: Don Martin; Kaye Roby; Mary Helen Zimmerman; Professor Keller, Director.

Under the able direction of Professor Paul D. Keller, the mixed chorus was extended this year to include a much larger group.

Nearly one hundred chorus members and friends of the surrounding community met to render the traditional Handel's "Messiah" at Christmas time. The audience was not only thrilled with the outstanding production by the chorus but we were also privileged to have especially talented guest soloists for the "Messiah" this year.

Other outstanding activities of the year were: A selection of numbers given for Youth Conference, the Easter Cantata, "Christ the Victor" by Dudley Buck, and then a last major appearance at commencement time.

Vesper Choir

"O come, let us sing unto the Lord; let us make a joyful noise to the rock of our salvation." Psalm 95:1.

Each Sunday evening students and faculty have assembled in Shreiner Auditorium to meditate, pray, and sing praises to the Lord. Besides having guest speakers, an attractive feature of this service has been the girls' choir, which has faithfully ministered to the glory of God.

This group has been ably directed by Professor Paul Keller, whose expressive conducting, helpful spirit, and friendly attitude have been appreciated by each member.

The Vesper Choir has been privileged to go into nearby churches on several occasions to present a program of sacred music.

Throughout the year the members have been blessed in their singing and trust that those who listened have also received a blessing.

Student Volunteers

Officers : G. Holcombe, Pres.; Shuppert, Chorister; Becker, Pianist; Winterling, V. Pres.; Drew, Secretary; J. Morse, Librarian; Watkins, Treasurer; Prof. Rediger, Sponsor.

"The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few:—And ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Judea and in Samaria and unto the uttermost part of the earth."

Taylor's world-wide program would not be complete without the activity of the Student Volunteer Band, which was organized long ago to fulfill the needs of those interested in missions. According to its name, it is a band of students who are volunteers for Christ, volunteers to pray, and volunteers to go into full time service whether it be at home or abroad.

This year Prayer Band and Student Volunteers were combined into a single organization. Meetings were held once each month and a very challenging program was carried out. A missionary gospel team was organized and a missionary paper was issued. Among other projects was the raising of money to support those who have already gone to the field. $800 has been the goal which Student Volunteers are raising to be sent out to the various workers.

Student Volunteer Band has kept the missionary spirit alive and vital here on the campus and already many students have consecrated their lives to the glorious mission of telling the gospel story to those who have never heard.

"Christ my Hope." This was the theme and heart of the twelfth annual Youth Conference. The presence of God's guiding hand was felt from the very first, and continued throughout to the final service of the conference.

The faithfulness of God, the earnest prayers of Taylor's friends and students, the clear, gripping messages of consecrated men of God—Dr. Harold Kuhn, Dr. W. H. Hotchkiss and Rev. Hazen Sparks, along with the untiring efforts of all the workers made this a deeply spiritual conference.

The sincere and ready response of hundreds of young people to the Gospel made a lasting impression upon the hearts of those who attended the conference.

"Thou art my hope O Lord God, thou art my trust from my youth."

In Memoriam

MISS IVEL GUILER

"Worship the Lord in the beauty of Holiness." Psalms 29:2.

There are some people whose greatness is in their power and great talent and such the world delights to honor; there are others, and they are few, whose greatness is in their kindness, love and humility which is revealed in their daily life of service to others. Such a one was our Holiness League sponsor, Miss Ivel Guiler, of whom it can be truly said that she "worshipped the Lord in the beauty of Holiness."

All of us who were privileged to know Miss Guiler were impressed by the beauty of her life whether it was in library administration, in social fellowship, or in devotional leadership. We recall her pleasant, ready smile as we sought her help—and she was always ready to do more than we asked of her. None of us can recall a single instance when she spoke an unkind word or did anything other than that which is consistent with true Christianity.

Truly we feel the loss of Miss Guiler to our school and as our friend, but we know that our loss is heaven's gain. Her memory is a challenge to us to so enter into the secret of her Lord and ours that we, too, may "worship the Lord in the beauty of Holiness."

"HOLINESS UNTO THE LORD"

Through the years this has been the motto of the meetings in which Taylor students come together seeking to realize in their own experience the living reality of the command, "Be ye Holy, for I am Holy."

When new students ask, "Well, who goes to Holiness League?" they are sometimes surprised to hear in reply, "Why, everybody goes!" Each Friday night Society Hall is crowded with students singing the old hymns and familiar choruses, lifting their voices in praise and thanksgiving for a full and real salvation in the Lord Jesus Christ, and listening earnestly as some student or visitor opens the Word of God.

Young Women's Association

A parlor filled with pajama-clad girls has been the scene of many happy gatherings of the Young Women's Association. Here the girls have discussed the problems of dormitory life, enjoyed talks, informal chats and occasionally had refreshments. Perhaps the most outstanding project was open house. It was then the girls opened their rooms to the faculty, friends, and fellows. The girls served tea in the parlors following the tour of the rooms.

A new face which appeared in the group last fall was that of our new dean of women, Mrs. Parker. It was not long before she had won a warm spot in the heart of every girl. She is interested in each of her girls and is never too busy to talk over their problems. She has helped to plan our meetings and has done her part to make them enjoyable for all.

Gem Staff

Believing that there are no acts in anyone's life so important and sacred as those produced during his college life, we publish this book that it may be a happy reminder of the past and inspiration for the future.

Our purpose for publishing this volume is that it might go throughout the land carrying with it a true idea of school life as it is in a university which stands for God and the best there is in humanity.

In turning this book over to you, friend, we desire it to carry good wishes and the best regards from each one who has contributed to its pages and stood so faithfully by us with their labors and sympathies. May this volume be a joy to you in the time of sorrow and a stimulus in the time of victory.

THE GEM STAFF.

Philaletheans

With John Kruschwitz, our president, as the driver, the Philos invite you aboard for a year's trip along the "Highway to Happiness."

Our journey begins on Rush Day with the morning edition of our newspaper announcing the activities of the day. We have breakfast amid the busy "hum" on "Dining Hall Lane," before attending our chapel service of inspirational music and meditation. Our pause for lunch is followed by the introduction of our '1944-45 Philo Queen," Charles Baker. In the evening the banquet precedes our scheduled performance of "College Inn."

Further along the "Highway to Happiness" our hayride offers us all much enjoyment.

When presenting "The Four Freedoms" our new "Lovers of Truth" proved their unusual ability and talents to all.

Thalonians

"Wishing for you a colorful, creative, Christ-centered pattern of life throughout your college days," was the theme for the Thalonian Rush Day. It was represented by various patterns for life; it became the theme for the regular closed meetings throughout the year.

Following the Rush Day activities came the annual Halloween masquerade and initiation of the new Thalos. The "New Thalo Program" revealed the ability of those students who sought their college literary activities with the Thalos.

The Christmas chapel service sent each student away on his vacation with the real Christmas spirit. In March the play "The Rock" was presented, a play which centers around the life of Peter. Throughout the year the regular meetings were well attended as the censor board chairman offered many varied and interesting programs.

Officers: Shomo, Pres. (2); Dr. Charbonnier, Sponsor; Shuppert, Pres. (1).

Soangetahas

With the words "Killi, killi, killi, killi, wash, wash, wash, wash" ringing through the air, we find a group of strong-hearted maidens with prospective members gathered around a campfire in Indian fashion. Yes, it is the famous pow-wow held by the Soangetahas every year.

This was just a beginning. Soon we were enjoying our bi-monthly meetings where timely subjects were debated. Do Taylor students eat to live or live to eat? Should every year be Leap Year at Taylor?

Then we had the fellows for our guests at a skating party on Valentine's Day and at a lovely banquet in April. The banquet was held in Recreation Hall which was beautifully decorated. And, oh yes, the food was delicious.

But there is a serious side to these ardent trail blazers. Every year we hold an inter-club debate. For several years the Soangetahas have been champions. We are looking forward to retaining that banner so that our society can remain the champion debaters.

Mnankas

The Weavers of Knowledge purpose to furnish for the members a program of debating technique, cultural refinement and spiritual inspiration. Through the rush-day tea, the well-planned programs, the seasonal parties, parliamentary drill in regular meetings, the Mnanka-Soangetaha debate, and the Mnanka banquet we attempt to accomplish our purpose.

Among the events of this year's program which stand out in our memory are: the rush-day program, our Christmas party with its impromptu speeches, our "between-semesters" party at which we bade farewell to members who were leaving, our Washington's birthday party, Miss Bothwell's presentation of "The Chinese Influence in Eighteenth Century Art" and, finally, our banquet. These are just a few of the threads of knowledge which we Mnankas have woven into our lives this year.

2nd Row: Mrs. Tinkle; Mrs. Meredith; Mrs. Keller; Mrs. Woofter; Miss Sadie Miller; Mrs. Harvey; Miss Swisher; Miss Draper; Mrs. Lamott; Mrs. Witmer; Miss Passage; Mrs. Stuart; Miss Evans.

The Faculty Dames is an organization composed of the women of the college faculty and staff and the wives of faculty men. Its purpose is to provide social gatherings as a means of relaxation and mutual pleasure and benefit. Meetings are held once each month and have consisted alternately of teas and potluck dinners to which the faculty men are invited. The highlights of the year are the Christmas Party and the Senior Supper, held in the spring.

Keeping Fit

Athletics bring to the surface the best and often the worst character qualities that a person possesses. Unfairness, if in the heart, will always display itself during a close basketball game. Selfishness, another predominant trait, is bound to make its appearance on the tennis court. Temper, if lodged in the nature of a young man, will always come to the surface during a trying baseball game. Such characteristics are positive signs of present and future failure.

Under Christian supervision such traits are suppressed, and in their stead, good sportsmanship and fair play are practiced. As a result the youth that leave this beloved institution play the game of life with real decision and godly manner.

Basketball

The 1944-45 Basketball season was highly successful in spite of the restrictions placed on traveling for our normal inter-collegiate schedule. Various independent and several college teams were challenged by the Trojans who displayed a high fighting spirit, teamwork and good sportsmanship. Under the direction of the excellent coaching of Phil Miller, Taylor Trojans ended their season with only one defeat.

Missionary

"Make him who hears, feel that he must be a follower of Christ, and take the message to someone else."

— Bishop Taylor's Prayer.

Taylor University has a glorious heritage of missionary inspiration in the two persons it delights most to honor: Bishop William Taylor and Sammy Morris. Though it is many years since either of these outstanding Christians have been at our school, the influence of their lives and testimonies serve to challenge the students of Taylor to hear and to heed the command of the Lord Jesus Christ to "Go into all the world to preach the Gospel to every creature."

Quite a number of our present students are definitely planning and expecting to go to the foreign field as missionaries of the Cross. But it is our primary purpose to honor the graduates of our school who have already taken their places in foreign lands as "Heralds of the Good News of Salvation" and to commemorate that growing number who "have fought the good fight, have finished the course, have kept the faith" and have gone into the presence of the One they served to receive His "Well done, good and faithful servant."

Looking Forward to Taylor's 100th Year

The Alumni Association of Taylor University considers it a distinct honor to be associated with Dr. B. W. Ayers in the Memorial Library project which constitutes one phase of our institution's centennial. We believe that the construction of a library building is essential to the progress and continued effectiveness of the school, and that it is a fitting memorial to Dr. Ayres and other alumni who have by their lives and service honored their school and won for it a sphere of influence which is world wide.

As Taylor moves rapidly toward her one hundredth anniversary she must consistently increase her efficiency and effectiveness to meet the growing demands for spiritual leadership throughout the world. Her alumni and friends are ready to accept the challenge and their share of responsibility. Let it never be said of us that we failed to make possible for others what was provided for us by those who, in past generations, have endowed Taylor University with their intercessory prayers and sacrificial gifts.

Taylor Song

Words and music by MELVIN J. HILL.

1 Up beyond the vil-lage bor-der, Pointing in the air,
 2 From the north and south, her stu-dents, East and west, are there,
 3 Far and wide her fame is sprea-ting, 'Till in ev-'ry' land,

Stand her tow-ers seen far dis-tant When the day is fair,
 All the na-tions ope' her port-als, And her bless-ings share.
 Men shall hear the name of Tay-lor, And her pur-pose grand.

CHORUS

Glad-ly our voic-es ech-o her praises, Taylor the school we love,

Gai-ly her col-ors float on the breezes, They our de-vo-tion prove.
